

LOCK OUT BEGINS IN A SMALL WAY.

CHICAGO'S LABOR WAR LOOKS INSIGNIFICANT.

Only Ten Thousand Men Out of Work To-Day Instead of the One Hundred Thousand Talked About by the Employes in Recent Manifesto.

CHICAGO, April 12.—Very much of a fiasco was the first day of the building trades lockout. Instead of the 100,000 carpenters, bricklayers, plasterers and plumbers who were to have been locked out only about 10,000 were shelved. The rest went to work as usual. This is said to have been due to a misunderstanding between employes. Tomorrow and Saturday is expected to see the lockout grow and at least sixty thousand men are likely to be out of work by the last of the week. Among the men discharged are gas-fitters, marble cutters, tilesetters, roofers, ironworkers and cornice builders. The lockouts which had thrown them out of work were generally small ones. They took place in all parts of the city.

J. J. Ryan, president of the Building Trades council, who will be the leader of the men in the coming fight, said: "We will work the co-operative act and will do all the work we can get. We have in our ranks the best workmen in the city. We will accept all the contracts we can secure. We are unable yet to tell the extent of the lockout. Many of the boys are now in from the smaller shops. From the reports we have received I do not believe the bosses will be able to lock out more than one-third of the union men of the city. If that estimate be correct the lockout is a failure."

Ed Hughes, chairman of the board of walking delegates, said: "We estimate that the building league will be able to swing but one-third of the bosses. If that be true the lockout is a failure. In my trade, that of gravel roofing, the largest bosses will stay with the union men. The firm of Turnbull & Cullerton announced to their men that they would not be locked out. Now, you see, we will divert all possible business from the 'lockers out' to this firm and others which act similarly."

Should the lockout continue for any length of time it will put out of employment many thousands of workers, men and women, in those trades which contribute to the equipment of offices and the adornment of homes.

Attorney John F. Geeting said yesterday that warrants for the boss builders might be served upon them to-day. There was a disposition, however, to delay the action until the legal rights of the employes were thoroughly known.

It is said the men will to-day apply for an injunction against the bosses, even though they have been advised that such proceedings will not be successful, on the ground that if they fail to secure an injunction the bosses in later steps in the contest will be unable to obtain injunctions against them.

GENERAL STRIKE ORDERED.

United Mine Workers of America Vote to Walk Out on April 21.

COLUMBUS, Ohio, April 12.—The United Mine Workers of America have ordered a general strike April 21.

J. A. Crawford of Illinois, member of the executive board, presented the resolution to strike. He said from twelve to fourteen resolutions had been referred to the committee, but they had decided to substitute two, one of which was to strike April 22. W. D. Van Horn, of Indiana, opposed the debate, asserting that the Indiana miners had a contract with the operators to work until May 1. The operators had asked them to accept a reduction, but it had been opposed and the wages had not been reduced. He was in favor of suspension of work May 1.

Joseph Dunkerly, state president of Indiana, was bitterly opposed to the date. He also wanted assurance that Illinois was ready, for if Illinois was not ready then the coal operators of that state could supply all the states around.

The date was changed to the 21st, on account of the 23d being Sunday, and the resolution was carried.

The resolution was unanimously adopted by the convention was as follows:

"Resolved, That on and after 12 o'clock noon, Saturday, April 21, that no coal shall be mined in any state or territory where the organization has control until authorized by the national officers and the executive board."

This was followed by another resolution providing that if the first general suspension fails to bring the desired results the executive board was authorized to order suspension during the year at any time that may be deemed advisable.

Another important work was the arrangement of a scale for the various states. This was placed in the hands of the following committee appointed by President McBride: W. B. Wilson, Pennsylvania; M. Maley, Indiana; John Nugent, Ohio; Thomas Farry, West Virginia; W. C. Webb, Kentucky; Thomas McGregor, Missouri; C. Horn, Ohio; and John McBride, Ohio.

Late yesterday afternoon the election was taken up and John McBride was re-elected president, P. H. Penna vice-president, and Patrick McBride secretary-treasurer.

The report of the scale committee to be made to-day is as follows: "For Indiana, 70 cents a ton; Ohio, Hocking, 70; Cuyahoga, 50 to 80; Pittsburgh, 70; Central Pennsylvania, average 50 to 60; Maryland, 50; Illinois, 50 to 60; Michigan, 30 to 50."

This is the scale as adopted two years ago.

BRAZIL, Ind., April 12.—The general strike ordered by the United Mine-workers will greatly affect this district. The bituminous miners are members of the order and will consequently quit work. The block coal operators claim that employes are not members of the Order of United Mine-workers and they are not expecting trouble. Several prominent block coal miners claim, however, that if the strike is general the block coal men will also come out. The proposed reduction has been the subject of much dissatisfaction among the block coal employes of this district.

Trainmen to Resist a Cut.

HUNTINGTON, Ind., April 12.—If the Wabash Railroad company insists upon enforcing the cut of 10 per cent in the wages of trainmen it will probably find itself in the courts. The trainmen at Andrews, a division of the road, claim that when the company accepted that road from the receivers it also accepted the present scale of wages, which was in effect at that time. They say the company has no legal right to reduce that scale now, and they will fight it in the courts if the cut is insisted upon.

More Union Pacific Men in Court. OMAHA, Neb., April 12.—The hearing of the petition of the American Railway union for the restoration of salaries of its members on the Union Pacific road was concluded yesterday in the United States District court before Judge Dundy. He took the case under advisement and announced he would render his decision Friday. He proposed, he said, to see justice done all employes, whether they belonged to a union or not.

St. Louis Tailor Strike Ends. ST. LOUIS, Mo., April 12.—The troubles that have affected the tailoring trade in this city for almost two months have been settled and one thousand employes will resume work immediately.

SAYS HE WAS IN ERROR.

Spooner Disclaims Being the Author of the Jenkins Injunction.

MILWAUKEE, Wis., April 12.—Ex-Senator John C. Spooner yesterday made a statement which contradicts the evidence he gave before the Boetner investigating committee and denies that he wrote the famous injunctive order of Dec. 19. He said: "I did not draw up the first order and injunction; that was done by Mr. Miller, the other attorney for the receivers. I stated that I believed I assisted in their preparation, but I find that I didn't; that I only prepared the petition."

Failure of the Brayton-Ives crowd to appear before the congressional investigating committee and make good the claim that they would be able to show a corrupt alliance between Judge Jenkins and the Northern Pacific ring has let the defendant out, and it may now be assumed that he will not be impeached. Without the introduction of volunteer testimony from the quarter indicated the Boetner committee had no opportunity to inquire into the motives influencing Judge Jenkins to exercise his authority in the remarkable manner complained of, the scope of the investigation being by the terms of the resolution of congress restricted to the legal phases of the case. At the same time, although the investigation is barren of results so far as affording a basis for beginning impeachment proceedings is concerned, the relatives and personal friends of Judge Jenkins are agitated at the disclosures already brought out by the committee. The plain, straightforward and direct questioning of Mr. Boetner and his colleagues exposed to the light a very bad condition of affairs and revealed the very peculiar relations existing between Judge Jenkins and the members of his family cabinet in the management of the Northern Pacific property.

The story of the manner in which the celebrated injunction orders were obtained came out in the confessions of ex-United States Senator John C. Spooner and of George P. Miller, and the astonishing feature of the case is that neither of the witnesses seemed able to comprehend the impropriety or wickedness of using their influence upon a weak judge to secure from him, in the secrecy of his private chamber, orders for the practical enslavement of 12,000 workmen. That such a thing could be possible at this age of enlightened civilization is a revelation which will shock the public and tend to lower respect for the dignity of the courts.

The labor men, inasmuch as the receivers could produce no evidence that a strike was contemplated or violence intended by the employes, are certain that the committee will declare that the arbitrary injunction was issued without reason and justification by the law or the fact. General Manager Kendrick himself told Grand Chief Wilkinson of the Order of Railway Trainmen, that he was sorry the injunction was asked for, and that he now believed it was unnecessary.

The judiciary committee of the house will pass upon the report of the subcommittee and formulate a resolution recommending some action by the house. Chairman Boetner thinks these preliminaries will occupy two

FLEET DESTROYED BY THE STORM.

DELAWARE FISHERMEN FEEL THE BLAST.

Six Boats Sunk and Nine Blown Ashore—Thirty-Six Cottages Along the Shore Blown Down—The Blizzard Is the Severest Since That of 1888.

NEW YORK, April 12.—The sturgeon fleet was almost annihilated at Cedar Beach Delaware, in the great storm. Six boats were sunk last night and nine were washed ashore. Thirty fishermen's shanties were washed away. The whole Atlantic coast from Boston to Baltimore is in the clutches of the worst storm since the never-to-be-forgotten blizzard of 1888. And not only the coast, but all the states north of the Carolinas and east of the Allegheny mountains, including the whole of New York state, which has sucked in the icy blasts and drawn them as far as Buffalo.

In some respects this storm is more dreadful and disastrous than the blizzard which paralyzed New York six years ago. That was fiercer, but it did not diffuse itself over so great an area. Nearly every telegraph and telephone wire in New York, New Jersey, Maryland, eastern Pennsylvania and Delaware has been torn down by the fury of the blast. New York is practically isolated, though all communication has not yet been cut off with the outside world. Baltimore, Boston, Philadelphia and Washington are in a similar plight. Dispatches are coming in from those points, but they come in slowly and at long intervals.

The telegraph companies say they have not been so badly crippled over so much territory in many years. New Jersey is most badly off in this respect. Since Tuesday nobody in this city or elsewhere has been able to get a word from Peterson, Plainfield, Seabright, Long Branch, Asbury Park or New Brunswick. They probably endure still, but they may have been wiped off from the face of the earth, for all New York knows to the contrary.

Aided by the strong tide the wind caused a serious accident on the steamship Puritan of the Fall River line. The starboard hawser was snapped as if it were a thread and with lightning like rapidity part of it went sweeping over the deck. As it recoiled it struck five of the crew, who were seriously injured that it was necessary to remove them to Chambers Street hospital. Pitched against the edge of its pier at Martin's stores, Brooklyn, the ocean tug Underwriter went to the bottom. It had aboard Capt. Clifford and a crew of fourteen men, all of whom were rescued just a few moments before the vessel was engulfed. It was one of the most powerful tugs on the ocean.

At Highland Beach eight men lost their lives within hailing distance of dozens of their fellow creatures, who were unable to help them, when the three-masted schooner Kate Marks of Fall River, Mass., went ashore on the bar one mile and a half above the village. Within one hour after it struck nothing was left of it but pieces of wreckage. The bodies of the men, whose identity is unknown, were probably carried out to sea.

The ocean is terribly angry. The oldest sailor does not remember when it was more frenzied and turbulent. It seems to be resolved to attack once more its ancient enemy, the land, for it is steadily advancing and thrusting itself forward, so that the water has risen to within two feet of the edge of the barge office pier at the Battery—the highest mark ever reached. The tide is the heaviest ever known in this harbor.

This state of affairs has created great anxiety for the safety of the many transatlantic steamers which are approaching New York. The White Star liner Majestic should have been in at an early hour yesterday; also the freighter Tauric, of the same line. Other steamers looked for are the Britannic, twenty days out from Sunderland; the Circassia, thirteen days out from Glasgow; the Croft, from Dundee, twenty days out; the Pontiac, Handel and Kolga, out sixteen, twenty and twenty-one days respectively from Gibraltar; the Lydian Monarch from London, eighteen days out; the Martello, seventeen days from Hull, and the Red Sea, from Barry, twenty-two days out.

Telegraph Lines Crippled.

CHICAGO, April 12.—Telegraphic service between the east and west was demoralized by the storm. Communication was almost entirely cut off. All eastern business offered at the Western Union telegraph offices in Chicago was taken "subject to delay." How long the delay will last is not definitely known, because no information as to the extent of the damage to the wires in the storm-swept area can be had.

Gale Strikes New England.

BOSTON, Mass., April 12.—Shortly after noon yesterday the gale, central in New Jersey, began to creep eastward, and at night a howling east-northeast wind piled up the waters in Massachusetts bay. The wind registered about sixty miles an hour. Up to midnight no wrecks were reported, but the wires are down on every hand, and to-day will probably show that shipping has not escaped disaster.

OH, KILL THE BILL DEMOCRATS CRY.

REPUBLICAN CONGRESSMEN SAY "WELL, HARDLY."

Canvass of the Senate this Morning Shows Over a Dozen Republicans Who Will Put in a Vote for the Wilson Bill When the Vital Point Is Reached.

WASHINGTON, April 12.—Democratic votes must defeat the Wilson bill if it is defeated. A canvass of the senate today shows it to be impossible to down it on a party vote even though a few Hill men do bolt. Thirteen republican senators declared today that they would vote for the bill. Democratic senators who are opposed to the income tax can beat the provision in no other way than to vote against the entire bill. The republican declaration is taken to be a means of forcing this line of action. The republican tariff bill was taken up in the senate in accordance with the terms of the agreement Tuesday. Senator Hale said the bill met strong, earnest and determined opposition from the American people. He denounced the proposal to repeal reciprocity and asserted the sugar schedule had been framed to catch votes in the south, and that, although other reciprocal treaties had been stricken down, the Hawaiian treaty had been saved in order that the vote of the democratic senators of the Pacific coast might be saved. "I do not hesitate to charge," he said, "that as affecting the entire northern region of our country this bill is made up after a fashion that could not have better satisfied the Canadians had a committee of their own been in charge of the bill." He discussed the probability of future amalgamation of the two countries, and said Canada must come to us, as we would not go to her, and asserted that the McKinley law was hastening the union.

Then Senator Pepper finished his speech which was begun and interrupted last Thursday. Mr. Pepper in the course of his speech said the bill discriminated against the farmer and that the only thing the agricultural classes asked was that they should receive protection as the manufacturer did.

After an executive session the senate adjourned.

BURNED BY MOLTEN METAL.

Ten Thousand Pounds of White Hot Steel Poured on Nine Men.

POMEROY, Ohio, April 12.—A hydraulic plunger on a converter at the Middleport steel plant, owned and operated by the King, Gilbert & Warner company of Columbus, suddenly gave way yesterday, letting drop the large crane, bearing a ladle filled with 10,000 pounds of white hot molten steel, which was suddenly precipitated into the deep pit, among the nine workmen, a distance of fifteen feet. It is given out by the physicians that at least five or six of the unfortunate nine have received injuries from which they will die. Some of the employees of the mill say the operators are at fault for the accident, alleging that the latter knew the hydraulic machinery was in an unsafe condition.

Bomb Exploded for Revenge.

PARIS, April 12.—A bomb was exploded yesterday in front of the house of the Juge de Paix at Argenteuil, near Versailles. The building was considerably damaged by the explosion, which was undoubtedly due to vengeance upon the part of anarchists. The judge has recently received a number of menacing letters and, therefore, the explosion was not unexpected. The police have arrested a man who is supposed to have been instrumental in causing the explosion.

Indianapolis National Bank Case.

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., April 12.—In the Indianapolis National bank trial yesterday Receiver Teller Robinson, who had worked his way up from messenger boy in the bank, occupied the witness stand all day. His evidence tended to explain much of the irregular methods employed by Banker Haughey. The evidence given was expected and nothing new developed.

Illness of Jerry Simpson.

WASHINGTON, April 12.—Representative Jerry Simpson, who has been confined to his bed for four days, is in a very critical condition, but his physician believes that by careful nursing the chances are slightly in favor of his recovery. Mr. Simpson is suffering with kidney trouble similar to Bright's disease.

Industrial Army Leaves Ogden.

OGDEN, Utah, April 12.—The industrial army marched out at 4:30 p. m. yesterday under escort of cavalry. A telegram from Mintah says the army left there for the east at 12:30 last night in twenty Union Pacific box cars.

England Engages Swift Steamers.

COKE WAR HAS BEEN RENEWED

Rioters Defy the Sheriff's Posse—They Are All Armed.

UNIONTOWN, Pa., April 12.—War has begun again in the coke region and the situation is most critical. Rioting and raiding were the program all day yesterday, and fierce battles were averted only by concessions on the part of the companies. The first indication of trouble was in the form of an armed mob of 400 strikers which assembled at 7:30 at the Youngstown works of the H. C. Frick company near here. About sixty coke drawers were in the pit when, at a given signal, the strikers swooped down upon the plant from every direction. The workers fled for shelter to the company's store, which was guarded by only six employes. The 400 Huns demanded that the workmen be given up. This was refused at first but after several attacks the men were surrendered. They were treated to all sorts of insults and some of them beaten with clubs.

Sheriff Wilhelm was notified at once and started for the scene of trouble. The rioters had left for the Leisnerings, taking the Youngstown workers with them. The sheriff gave chase with twenty deputies, overtook the mob and ordered them to disperse. The leader of the rioters answered that they were on the public highway and had equal rights with the sheriff. A deputy took charge of one of the men, when the strikers surrounded the posse and forced the authorities to give him up. The sheriff force then fell back and the strikers continued the march toward Leisnering. Twenty more deputies have left here to join Sheriff Wilhelm. Trouble is inevitable, as the strikers are all armed.

A horde of strikers also visited Trotter and Leisnering No. 1 about noon. They were from the Rainey plants near Vanderbilt. No violence was attempted, but they camped near Trotter for a hand in the affairs to-day. It is said a raid will be made on the plants in this section at daybreak. About 300 deputies are distributed among them. Sheriff Wilhelm, who talks little, confesses that the outlook in the Leisnering district is alarming.

A meeting of strikers from the southern end of the district was held here last night for the purpose of planning a raid on the works in operation there. This includes Leith, Oliphant, Brownfield, Redstone, Kile, Martin and Fairchance. It is given out that the raid will be made to-day.

The employes of the Frick plants still refuse to strike and say they will work as long as protected.

At the Youngstown works it is said an attempt was made to shut off the air from the mine, which would have resulted in suffocation and death for the workers.

Against Spring Valley.

CHICAGO, April 12.—Judge Gibbons has sustained the demurrer of the attorney general to the pleas of the Spring Valley Coal company in the quo warranto proceedings commenced against it on behalf of the people on the ground that the pleas were insufficient and did not constitute a legal denial to the charges made in the information. The court, however, allowed Attorney Jewett, representing the defendant, ten days' time to file an amendment to the pleas.

Recruits for Coxey's Army.

BOSTON, April 12.—It is officially announced that the New England contingent of Coxey's army will start from Faneuil hall April 17. It has been suggested that a coal schooner be chartered to take the army to Washington, and a committee is at present investigating the cost of such an excursion. This wing of the army will be called the New England industrial army.

Fifty Natives Killed.

LONDON, April 12.—Kappa Rega, king of Unyoro, and the most powerful and troublesome of the east African chiefs, was attacked early in December by a detachment of the British East Africa company's forces under Major Owen. ## MADELINE'S NOTES HELD UP TO LIGHT.

BEN BUTTERWORTH TALKS OF HER LETTERS TO RHODES.

Fair Defendant's Missives the Feature of the Breckenridge Trial To-Day. Gives Her Credit for Being a Great Genius in Certain Lines—Made Up Her Mind Quickly.

WASHINGTON, April 11.—[Special]—Ben Butterworth began his argument in the Breckenridge Pollard case this morning with the consideration of the plaintiff's letters to Farmer Rhodes. Mr. Butterworth said he was willing to give Miss Pollard credit for being a great genius in certain lines, but the hardest part of her story to believe was that part of it which said that in that half hour alone in the hotel of Sarah Goss, while the defendant had gone home to his dinner, she had thought over the whole matter, had given up life, honor, friends, and future, and had decided to enter into Col. Breckenridge's life, and Mr. Wilson would tell that to the jury as though he believed it.

The speaker went on to compare the plaintiff to Delilah. Further on he declared that there was no moment of all these years of affection save that little willow basket, so lately handled by the fingers of his dead wife, brought into the case for no other purpose than to make his fault seem more abhorrent. W. C. P. Breckenridge had never given to his mistress the possessions of his wife before her grave clothes had crumbled. During Mr. Butterworth's speech the judge ordered the court room cleared because the crowd applauded.

Mr. Butterworth asked the court for an adjournment shortly before 4, as he was greatly exhausted. Judge Bradley acceded to the request.

TARIFF BILL PROGRAM.

Republicans Willing to Allow the Present Plan to Run for Ten Days More.

WASHINGTON, April 12.—The republican steering committee of the senate met yesterday for conference concerning the program to be pursued on the tariff bill. No decision was reached except to allow the debate to go on under the present arrangement as long as possible. The opinion seemed quite general that the present truce would continue for at least another week. Some of the senators present thought that two weeks more of uninterrupted debate would exhaust the speeches in general debate. If the democrats agree to the proposition the republicans will make the present order run along smoothly for ten days, when the bill will be taken up paragraph by paragraph, and the real contest will begin.

Lost with Two of Its Crew.

MILWAUKEE, Wis., April 12.—Capt. William R. Wood, the only survivor of the schooner Island City, reached this city yesterday afternoon and told of the loss of his vessel. The other two men, who comprised the crew of the lost boat, were undoubtedly drowned when the boat went down. Capt. Wood was so nearly dead from exposure in a small yawl that he barely managed to crawl to a farmhouse near the shore, and then became unconscious again. The victims of the disaster are William March of St. Joseph, Mich., and Joseph Rouse of Baroda, Mich. March was 21 years of age and Rouse was 15. Both men were unmarried.

Coxey Meets Hard Weather.

CHALK HILL, Pa., April 12.—Thirteen miles on a mountain road with eighteen inches of snow on it, and in the teeth of a howling blizzard, is yesterday's record for Coxey's army. Out of 314 men 215 obeyed the command to march. Coxey expresses himself as anything but dissatisfied with the reduction of his force. He has dreaded the mountains with a big force of men, and yesterday's experience with the small number he shows he had reason to do so. There is no name to the place in which the army camped at night. To-day the army will continue its march and again camp where night finds it.

Brawley Bill Meets with Favor.

WASHINGTON, April 12.—The Brawley bill, to which the amendment for the repeal of the state bank tax is to be offered in accordance with the action of the democratic caucus, has been favorably acted on by the committee on banking and currency, but has not yet been reported to the house. It is not the intention of the democratic leaders to displace the appropriation bill in order to do this.

Prospects for Missouri Crops.

COLUMBIA, Mo., April 12.—The Missouri board of agriculture reports for the week ending Tuesday that crops show no material advancement. Much of the crop was killed by the severe freeze of last week, but that sown late was not injured. Prospects are good for fair crops except peaches, which are generally killed.

Mehler Not a Murderer.

LOUISVILLE, Ky., April 12.—The murderers of Stephen Greer, the dairyman, have been landed safely in the prison at Jeffersonville. They are negroes and they were captured at a late hour last night. Peter Mehler, the man who has been under arrest as the suspected criminal, it now turns out, is an innocent man.

The king of Belgium is again in possession of a handsome palace at Laeken. The original one was burned to the ground about three years ago. The new palace is built on the same lines as the former one, but only iron and stone have been used in the construction. The royal family expects to move in the new building in a short time. All the most famous workmen, artists and sculptors of Belgium were engaged in the ornamentation of the palace.

A Cry For Help.

In the stillness of the night is sufficient to startle. What if no aid be at hand and we know no where to cry comes? This is not the case with that mute appeal made to the resources of medical science, ever ready, ever available by disease on every hand. A prompt means of self help for the malarious, the rheumatic, the dyspeptic, the bilious, and persons troubled with impeding kidney complaints, is to be found in Hostetter's Stomach Bitters, an ever present help in time of trouble for all such hapless individuals. They should not delay a moment in seeking its aid. Experience has shown its wide utility, the recommendation of eminent physicians everywhere sanction its use. Nervous, thin, debilitated invalids gain bodily substance and vigor by a course of this fine invigorant, which is eminently serviceable, also, to the aged and convalescent.

An Enormous Kite.

The largest kite ever made in the United States is that produced in Durham, Greene county, N. Y.

The frame consists of two main sticks, 28 feet long, weighing each 100 pounds, and two cross sticks, 21 feet long, and weighing 75 pounds each. All the sticks were 2½ inches in dimensions. Over the framework was stretched a great sheet of white duck, 25x15 feet, which weighed 55 pounds. The tail of the kite alone weighed 50 pounds and contained 155 yards of muslin. Twenty-five hundred feet of one-half inch rope served as kite strings.

The plighting cost $100, and when it is mounted into the air it exerts a lifting power of 500 pounds. Six men once permitted it to ascend 1,000 feet.

What the Shark Spares.

It is hard to believe that the greedy and cruel shark spares anything, dead or alive, but sailors declare that "it flies a feather." This fish follows ships from sea to sea, and will swallow all sorts of articles—even knives—that may be thrown overboard.

Seamen say, however, that it will not touch the pilotfish—a small fish with the look of a mackerel, that is (wrongly) supposed to earn the shark's gratitude by guiding it to its prey—or a fowl, living or dead.

In short, the shark avoids seagulls, petrels and every feathered thing. This is what sailors tell us from their own observation.

I think Ely's Cream Balm is the best remedy for catarrh I ever saw. I never took anything that relieved me so quickly, and I have not felt so well for a long time. I used to be troubled with severe headaches two or three times a week. J. A. Alcorn, Agt U. P. Ry. Co., Eaton, Colo.

Catarrh

AND COLD IN THE HEAD
relieved instantly by one application of
Birney's Catarrh Powder

REV. FATHER CLARKE, Sec'y to the Rt. Rev. Bishop of Columbus, Ohio, writes: "GENTLEMEN:—I cannot say enough for your Powder. It has cured me of an aggravated attack of catarrh when nothing else could help me. Am delighted with it. All my friends to whom I administered samples are quite enthusiastic over it. The good sisters speak most encouragingly of their use of it in the Hospital under their care. I will do anything to speak a good word for the remedy to help others who are suffering."

M. E. FERGUSON, Custodian U. S. Appraiser's Stores, Chicago, writes: "GENTLEMEN:—Being almost entirely deaf for a number of years past and getting no relief from many so-called cures which I tried, was induced by a friend to try Dr. Birney's Catarrh Powder for my deafness. Have recovered my hearing entirely, so that I can now hear a watch tick plainly, it being held 16 inches from my ear. I look upon it as a positive cure for deafness and have recommended its use to many of my friends and can say I have never heard of a case where it has failed to relieve."

NOT A CASE AFFIRMED.

For years Walter Q. Gresham was an over-rated man, but his mistakes as a member of Cleveland's cabinet have been too glaring to be overlooked, and his reputation as a jurist is also falling. The supreme court of the United States on Monday last reversed two more of the decisions made by Secretary Gresham while he was presiding over the seventh circuit of the United States. One of them was a custom-house case and the other a suit brought by the North Chicago Rolling Mill Company against the St. Louis Ore and Steel Company. This makes eight of Secretary Gresham's cases that have been reversed during the present term, and it is a clean record, not one of his decisions having been affirmed.

MAJORITY OF 100,000 IN THE STATE

A good democrat has been figuring on the recent municipal elections in the state and gets little comfort. He says Boss Wall must dig up three or four new "issues" at once. The percentage of republican gains this year if carried through to November will make Wisconsin republican by some like 100,000. There can be no sort of doubt that if a general election were held now the democrats would be simply overwhelmed by a tidal wave of popular rebuke. That wave has already set in and is fast rising, as election returns from every part of the country shows.

It seems a little strange for a man to preach a sermon from a church pulpit Sunday morning and to deliver a paid for lecture from the stage of a theatre the same evening, but Sam Small did it in Washington. Stepping from the pulpit to the stage could not, however, phase the man who has been dividing his time between preaching and editing an administration democratic paper, nothing could.

Congressman Wilson is so much better that it is said he is going back to Washington to resume his duties. He will need an introduction to the tariff bill which he helped to put together and to railroad through the house, so great has been the change since he saw it last.

No one can doubt the extent of democratic harmony when Governor Tillman, of South Carolina, is demanding that Cleveland shall be impeached, and Minnesota democrats are jumping on anti-Cleveland democratic senators.

The Washington authorities will entertain "Gen." Coxey at public expense, if he ever gets to the national capital with his army, but the jail fare is hardly up to that of the hotels at which Coxey has been taking his meals.

Senator Brice thinks the farmers might as well adjust themselves to five-cent cotton and fifty-cent wheat. Democratic stump-speakers in the Cleveland campaign promised just twice those prices.

Mr. Cleveland may think just as Senator Hill does about some parts of the tariff bill, but all the same he has not congratulated Hill for making that speech.

Oh yes, the democratic senators are opposed to trusts—those which cannot be influenced by legislation.

BALTIMORE, Md., April 12.—For forty-eight hours snow has fallen continuously in Baltimore and the western part of Maryland. On the Blue Ridge mountains it is nearly two feet deep and drifted heavily in the railroad cuts. It is the longest snow storm experienced in this section in several years. Baltimore streets are thick with slush.

DO YOU OVERWORK?

DO YOU GET EXHAUSTED AND IRRITABLE?

Such Conditions Mean Much More Than You Think—How To Do the Most and Best Work Without Getting Tired.

People are ambitious, they want to better their condition and to have the good things of life. To do this they overwork and put too great strain on their strength and nerves. In consequence, the nerves become weakened and the person soon loses the power to work as much as formerly.

When the nerves are weak, the heart also becomes weakened. Severe heart disease is liable to follow if this condition is not checked. Weak heart causes poor circulation, indigestion and many other troubles. It is a dangerous condition to neglect. The following letter written by Mr. W. A. Phillips, of Moretown, Vt., gives some interesting information:

"I have been troubled with heart disease and indigestion, not being able to do a full day's work for some time. I employed physicians and used many remedies, but was not benefited by them. I have seen days in the last few months when I would have given anything to be able to do a good day's work."

MR. W. A. PHILLIPS.

"I finally commenced using Dr. Greene's Nervura blood and nerve remedy, and in a very short time derived more benefit from its use than any medicine I had ever taken. I think it the best medicine I have ever used. I heartily recommend this remedy to all the sick and suffering."

If you are working harder than you ought and feel any of the symptoms coming on, or if you cannot work readily and easily, take Dr. Greene's Nervura blood and nerve remedy, and you will be cured. It will strengthen and build you up so that you can work as much as you ever could. Take it now, in the spring, for this is the best time to be cured. Everybody needs a spring medicine and this one is doing more good than any other known remedy.

It is purely vegetable and harmless. Dr. Greene, its discoverer, is the most successful specialist in curing nervous and chronic diseases. He can be consulted at his office, 35 West 14th Street, New York City, free, personally or by letter.

SOME WELL KNOWN FACES.

Senator Walthall's Successor.

Hon. Anselm Joseph McLaurin, who succeeds Mr. Walthall as United States senator from Mississippi, is a native of the Bayou State and was born in Rankin county March 26, 1848. When only 16, he served in the Confederate army. Admitted to the bar at Raleigh in 1868, he at once began to practice and three years later was elected district attorney. In 1876 Mr. McLaurin moved to Brandon, where he has since lived and practiced his profession. He is considered one of Mississippi's leading criminal lawyers.

ANSELM J. McLAURIN.

Who He Was.

In an English court a man was on trial who could speak nothing but Irish, and an interpreter was called and duly sworn. The prisoner at once asked him some question and he replied. The judge interposed sharply. "What does the prisoner say?" demanded the judge.

"Nothing, my lord," answered the interpreter.

"How dare you say that when we all heard him? What was it?"

"My lord," said the interpreter, beginning to tremble, "it had nothing to do with the case."

"If you don't answer I'll commit you. What did he say?"

"Well, my lord, you'll excuse me, but he said: 'Who's that old woman with the red bed curtain round her sitting up there?'"

The court roared.

"And what did you say?" asked the judge, looking a little uncomfortable.

"I said, 'Whist, ye spalpeen! That's the old boy that's going to hang vezi!'"

THE TRAGEDY POSTPONED.

Story of Mr. Roanhare's Unrequited Love for a Medical Minerva.

Young Mr. Roanhare is employed as an office clerk in a large, gloomy building that fronts on La Salle street, Chicago. Nobody would suppose there could be romance, poetry or passion in his life, for he always has conducted himself like a well regulated machine; and yet, strange as it may seem, young Mr. Roanhare's heart has been recently the abode of fiercely contending emotions, and young Mr. Roanhare has stood at the brink of a suicide's grave.

Some time ago he fell in love with a North Chicago girl who is studying medicine and made a favorable impression; but when he called upon her and proposed she told him that she could only be a sister to him. She said she had her career mapped out before her, and she would not sacrifice it. Matrimony, she contended, meant only mental stagnation to a woman, and she didn't propose to stagnate to any great extent. Mr. Roanhare went away to his room and studied the situation. The more he studied the more firmly was he convinced that life without Minerva would be a hollow mockery, a delusion and a snare. Ah, yes; he would go to her once more and lay the wealth of his love at her feet. If she spurned the wealth in question, then—there was the grave!

He went to her at once, only pausing at a drug store to purchase a bottle of laudanum. Once in her presence, he held aloft the vial—the fatal vial—and cried:

"Minerva, this mixture is fraught with death! Once more, will you be mine? If not, I will drink the potion and lie a corpse at your feet."

A glad light came into the maiden's eyes.

"Do you really mean to commit suicide, Mr. Roanhare?"

"I certainly do."

"How good of you! I have been so anxious to watch the effects of laudanum on a man in rugged health. Pray do not use the bottle to drink from, it is so inconvenient; let me get you a glass. This is really considerate of you, Mr. Roanhare, sacrificing yourself to scientific advancement. So many thoughtless young men would have gone to some secluded park or thrown themselves into the lake. You will live in the memory of all true scientists."

Mr. Roanhare's arm fell to his side and a sickly pallor overspread his face.

"Are you really glad?" he queried, "that I have decided to kill myself?"

"Glad? It is not gladness—it is ecstasy. You must know that I am an enthusiast in my chosen profession, and I could crave no sweeter boon than to sit by a man dying of laudanum and mark the progress of the poison. Oh, what a treatise I will write on the subject! Mr. Roanhare, I beg that you will take the required dose at once, as we are wasting valuable time. Never mind saying good-by; matters of sentiment should have no place where science is concerned. What? You are surely not going to disappoint me?"

"The fact is," he gasped, as he edged toward the door, "I'm afraid poison would spoil my appearance after death, and I guess I'll postpone the execution until I can borrow a revolver."

As he sneaked away he heard the sound of weeping, and he wept himself; but he hasn't borrowed the revolver yet.

Deadlock in the House.

WASHINGTON, April 12.—Immediately after the reading of the journal this morning the house got into a deadlock over a technical parliamentary question, the republicans not voting and the democrats lacking thirty-three of a quorum. It soon became evident that no business could be transacted and at 1:40 the house adjourned.

Three More Memphis Victims Found.

MEMPHIS, Tenn., April 12.—The work of rescuing the victims of Sunday's tenement house catastrophe has gone on day and night. Last evening the body of Julia Hall was recovered, and early this morning the bodies of Laura and Charles Harris. These increase the death rate to seven. There may be others there, but it is hardly probable.

Dead Train Robber Was Bill Rhodes.

ENID, Ok., April 12.—Two of the train robbers who rode away on horses when the shooting began have been overtaken at Hennessy. They will be taken to Wichita to avoid lynching. The robber who was shot dead by the guard was named Bill Rhodes, an old member of the James gang and came from Clay county, Mo.

MARZLUFF WANTS A NEW FACTORY.

He Would Take a Ten Years' Lease of a Building That Sued.

"I wish some moneyed man would come to the front and build a suitable building for my shoe factory," said F. M. Marzluff this morning. "I have got to have more room, and if some one would build such a factory as I want I would take a ten years' lease of it. My trade is constantly increasing and I must have more room in order to keep up orders or give up business."

PRICE OF 'PHONES WILL BE HIGHER.

NEW PLAN OF CHARGING TO BE TRIED.

Made a Big Rumpus When Proposed in Milwaukee, But the Scheme Will Be Worked Throughout the Wisconsin Telephone Company's Jurisdiction as Soon as Possible.

Janesville business men have been warned that as soon as the trouble in Milwaukee is settled the new telephone tariff will be enforced here and throughout the state. It is not a new tariff either but an enforcement of conditions that appear on every contract. The rule calls for a charge of two cents a call on all calls in excess of one thousand a year. One thousand a year means less than three a day. When a man uses his telephone four times a day it subjects him to extra charge. Very few telephone patrons keep the use of their 'phones down to this limit and their tax would add considerably to the annual rental.

As said before, Janesville and the other towns in the state will not be disturbed until the rumpus in Milwaukee subsides. Circulars announcing the tariff were sent out there by General Manager McLeod and had to be withdrawn. A special meeting of the directors will be held to discuss the circular.

Had Acted in Haste

An officer of the company stated that Mr. McLeod had been a little too anxious to see the idea of the circular in effect, and had acted without the authority of the directors. But the officer showed the reporter that the letter was an exact reiteration of the telephone contracts.

"The manager made the mistake," he said, "of stating 2 cents a call instead of $10 for 500 calls. The latter form of stating the charges would have caused no trouble."

"People say the rate of 2 cents a call is exorbitant. But the Wisconsin telephone rate per call is lower than on any other circuit in the country. The San Francisco rate is 5 cents a call and the Buffalo rate is 2 1/2 or 3. The operating expenses of the Wisconsin Telephone company are 70 per cent of the income, and some of our patrons use their private telephone 19,000 times a year. Think of that—19,000 calls."

The reporter thought of 19,000 calls a year at 2 cents a call and figured the income of that 'phone under the new interpretation of the contract at $380 a year.

GOLDIN OR CLEMONS IN THE CHAIR

Organization of the School Board to Occur Next Tuesday.

Members of the new school board have very little to say concerning the organization of the board for the coming year. The board stands four republicans and three democrats, two new members being admitted, Commissioners F. L. Clemons of the Second ward, and R. W. McLean of the Fourth ward. The presidency of the board will go either to Commissioner Clemons or Goldin, and Commissioner Cunningham is likely to be reelected clerk. However, combinations may be formed to change all this. The new board will assume official authority on Tuesday, and will probably be organized on Tuesday evening.

WILL LAY PIPE BY APRIL 16

Early Closing.

There seems to be a misunderstanding about evening closing among the merchants. For the benefit of all we will state that the agreement signed by them is to the effect that they will close every evening except Wednesday and Saturday, at 6 or 6:30 p. m., from June 5 to March 31. As the 31st of March has passed by, there is now no agreement, and all are at liberty to close or keep open evenings as they desire. Is not this correct?

HENS LAND BENEKE SAFE IN WAUPUN.

ONE YEAR'S SENTENCE FOR A POULTRY THIEF.

Motion For a New Trial That Followed His Conviction Overruled by Judge Phelps—Patrick Siney's Case Adjourned—Tramps Still Come—Jewelry Thieves' Rich Haul.

For the second time in his life George W. Beneke will begin a states prison sentence at noon today. Beneke was convicted of stealing twenty-five chickens from John A. Decker and this morning Judge Phelps sentenced him to one year at Waupun, his term beginning at noon today. His conviction followed the trial in the municipal court yesterday the jury being out nineteen minutes, and a motion for a new trial was at once made by his attorney, Edwin F. Carpenter. This motion was heard this morning and after the arguments Judge Phelps overruled it and passed sentence upon the defendant. Sheriff Hear took the prisoner to Waupun at noon and previous to his going he held a reception at the jail as a means of saying good bye to his friends and relatives. Beneke served a year in Joliet once for stealing a watch and once before the others say, he was sentenced to six months in the Rock county jail.

THE TRAMPS STILL COMING.

The Police Gather In From One To Two Each Day.

Tramps are still coming to Janesville. Officer Hogan caught one this morning who wore spectacles and an unusually large "jag" while Chief Acheson and Constable Cochran got one apiece. There were several tramps about town yesterday selling pipes and other articles, undoubtedly stolen, but the police had no notification of them that corresponded. One tramp said the pipes he was selling were bought from France "and he had one each for himself and two brothers" but he consented to sell them. Twenty-three "hobos" were liberated from the jail this morning and chased out of town.

SINEY'S CASE WAS ADJOURNED.

The Beloit Knifer Is To Be Tried On April 19.

Patrick Siney, the Beloit man who is charged with attempting to kill Y. R. Brand, was before the municipal court this morning, he having been held for trial at the preliminary examination at the Line City. J. G. Wickham appeared for him while District Attorney Wheeler appeared for the state and by consent of the parties the case was continued until April 19 at ten o'clock. Siney used a pocket knife in his assault on Mr. Brand and the wound that was inflicted is not thought to be dangerous.

THIEVES MADE A RICH HAUL.

One Hundred Rings and Twenty-Seven Watches Stolen.

Chief Acheson got a postal card from Chief of Police Adamson this morning offering a reward of fifty dollars for the thieves who looted a Madison second hand store and carried off one hundred rings including one or two diamonds and twenty-seven watches of various kinds. Nobody had been selling anything of the kind here so the police think the robbers gave Janesville a wide birth.

WATER FOR 15 CENTS A THOUSAND

W. H. H. MacLoom Compares Delavan and Janesville's Rates of Service.

EDITOR GAZETTE: In the village of Delavan's water works rates and rules I find the maximum price for measured water fifteen cents per one thousand and gallons and the minimum six cents per one thousand gallons; dwelling houses each family $4.50; bath tubs $2.50; private stables $1.75; closets $2.50. "The use of hose for sprinkling trees, lawns, gardens and washing sidewalks, steps, windows, etc., is permitted at all hours of the day, not later than 9 p.m."

In comparison with the above the Janesville Water Co.'s rules for use of water for domestic purposes seem to be unreasonable and unjust as also the rates. W. H. H. MACLOON.

The basement of her millinery emporium is a great bargain centre. One can find here just what is desired. Mrs. Woodstock is making great efforts in this line and she is sure to be well rewarded. Don't fail to visit the basement when calling upon her.

MET LATE GUESTS WITH A SHOT GUN.

GEORGE H. RUMRILL STANDS GUARD AT MIDNIGHT.

Pair of Strangers Try To Get Him Outside on the Plea That They Have a Crop of Tobacco To Sell, But He Doesn't Take What They Offer.

"Get right away from here or I will blow your heads off with a shot gun," exclaimed George H. Rumrill, while standing at his front door, 152 Linn street, in his night shirt at 12 o'clock last night.

Mr. Rumrill was aroused from his sleep by the ringing of his door bell. Going to the door in his night clothes he inquired: "Who is there, and what do you want?"

"My name is Griffith, and I want to sell you my tobacco," was the reply.

Mr. Rumrill told his caller that he was not in the habit of purchasing tobacco at that hour of the night, and if he had tobacco for sale he had better call in the day time.

"Get him to come outside," was whispered loud enough for Mr. Rumrill to hear through the locked door. This whisper aroused Mr. Rumrill and he realized that his callers were bent on crooked work.

"Get right away from here," he exclaimed, "or I will blow your heads off with a shot gun." This threat had the desired effect, as the visitors made haste to leave the premises and nothing more was heard of them.

BIG WORLD'S FAIR ENGINE HERE

Engineer Henry Brazzle Handles the Throttle on "Number 400."

Janesville people who saw the big C. & N. W. "Columbus" engine at the World's Fair hardly expected to see a Janesville man pull a train through Janesville with it, but such is the case. The big engine drew the 6:25 limited train last night and Engineer Brazzle of this city was in the cab. The big engine will come back to-night on the 9:30 limited. The Northwestern has two of them, differing only in a small way. One is running between Chicago and Milwaukee and the other on the Janesville line. Both will be used for a week to see what results will be attained in the way of the consumption of coal and water.

LAW OF THE L. A. W. FOR THE SEASON.

RULES OF INTEREST TO THIS YEAR'S WHEELMEN.

The League Adopts Stringent Measures of Protection for Its Own Membership—Barring Out "Professional Ringers."

OME NEW AND important rules were adopted by the racing board of the L. A. W. at its last meeting. The new rules not only affect racing men, but the managers of race meets as well. A manager who fails to observe the prescribed regulations will be severely dealt with by the board. It was decided that in the matter of sanctions for race meets, all other conditions being equal, the preference shall be given to the league club. Under the old rules a club or individual not associated with the L. A. W. was just as much entitled to favors from the board as a club holding membership in the league. The new rule protects the latter organization. In the future all state division meets will have to receive official sanction. Applications for the desired privilege will have to be filed with the racing board at least thirty days prior to the holding of the same.

In the event of the holder of a sanction finding it impossible to secure a track suitable for a race meet on the dates allowed him, the board reserves the right to withdraw the sanction and award it to some other club or person. After disposing of the above matter the board turned its attention to records. This gave the members an opportunity to give the idols of manufacturers like Bliss, Dirnberger & Johnson a slap, and they did so with a vengeance.

It was decided to recognize in the future only records made at the following distances: Quarter, third, half, two-thirds, three-quarters, one mile, and all even miles upward. Records claimed for the intermediate distances will be ignored by the board. Hereafter no cognizance of records made in private trials will be taken unless two weeks' notice of the intention of holding such trials is given to the chairman of the racing board. In the event of no due notice being given, official permission to make the attempts may be granted.

In that case the referee of such trials must be a properly accredited representative of the League of American Wheelmen appointed by the chairman upon application, and there shall be at least twelve witnesses present to attest to the correctness of the record. Sanction for a city or county championship race will not be allowed by the board unless the application is indorsed by the division board. A contestant who fails to pay his entrance fees to race is liable to regret it. If a contestant guilty of this offense shall have ridden in a race and won a prize he shall be given thirty days in which to pay the fees, and at the expiration of that time the management of the races may sell the prize or prizes for its own account and the contestant shall forfeit all claims to the same.

Programs of race meets must show the address, city and state, of each rider, and shall state which events are for class A and class B riders. A caution shall appear on the program to the following effect: Notice to Riders—All races on this program are limited as follows: Class A—Riders that reside in this state or live within 200 miles of place of meet and the prizes for which do not exceed $50. Class B—Such races that have prizes exceeding $50 in value and open to any amateur rider under class B, according to League of American Wheelmen rules.

The board cautions riders that to ride in Class B races or to violate any clause of Class A will make them ineligible to future events in Class A. The value of each prize must appear on the program, and where a value is brought into dispute the retail price of same shall govern the settlement.

Race meet promoters are directed not to advertise the intended presence of any racing man, unless a notice in writing to that effect is in their possession, signed by the man advertised. An obligation rests on racing men to appear at race meets where definite promises have been given to do so. Any racing man, after having given such promise, and failing to give notice within at least two weeks previous to the holding of meet for which he is advertised to the managers thereof that he will not be present, shall be suspended from all track racing for a period to be determined by the chairman of the racing board.

Any competitor in a Class A race who neglects to give his legal residence or gives other than his legal residence as such shall be considered to have made a false entry, and will be subject to the penalty for false entries.

It was decided that riders may register with the chairman of the racing board colors to be worn by them in cycle races. In sending applications for same the combination or way in which colors are to be worn must be given. Hereafter a general pacemaker may be put in any race by the race promoter, having previously notified the referee of the fact. He will not, however, be allowed to assist any single rider, but shall act to increase the speed of the race in general. He shall be entitled to any place or prize he may win, may be rewarded by a special prize within the limits of his class, but can not accept a cash remuneration.

AT THE ARCH OF TITUS—TOURIST AND GUIDE.

"Good sir, thou didst me order To lead thee through this border To view this very place. But through this archway Roman With free will passeth no man Of all my suffering race."

"Seel with its decoration, This arch derides my nation, By Titus scourged and slain! It pictures his achievements And all of our bereavements. Its sight fills me with pain."

"Then, sir, do not command me—Indeed I would withstand thee, As all of Israel must! Alone go through the gateway, While I around and straightway Will meet thee, safe, I trust."

"My faithful guide, know thy way Is parallel with my way," I forthwith made remark. "I hate the chariots gory, But love Judaea's glory, The candlestick and ark."

Whereat he gazed in wonder Upon my face, and under His eyelids teardrops stole. He touched my hand then quickly, Half doubtfully, half meekly, And said, "Sch'ma Yisroel!"

Of course my tears descended, While I the greeting ended, "Adonai Echod!" Around the archway turning, The path within us burning; "Jehovah is our God."

—American Hebrew.

CATCHING A TRAIN.

It was my first day on the wheat prairie of North Dakota. I had left Fargo at 5 o'clock in the morning on one of the two daily trains westward and had stopped at Castleton, 20 miles from the "Phenix City of the Northwest." Thence I had tramped back across the prairie two miles to see the Dalrymple farm, the greatest in the world, 80,000 acres under cultivation. By 9 o'clock in the morning I had seen all there was to be seen in the process of thrashing and so retraced my steps to Castleton.

At the station I was informed that the next means of getting back to Fargo was by a freight train leaving at about 2 o'clock. There are no art galleries or cathedrals in Castleton. There are a dozen or two stores and a hotel. I entered the hotel with the air of abandon and general superintendence usually ascribed to commercial travelers, sat down in the office and picked up day before yesterday's St. Paul paper. An old man with white whiskers sat in the sun reading the day before that paper. He was evidently a pioneer, who had so long been away from the more civilized regions that he lagged a little in the history of the world. However, I was glad to see one guest at least in the hotel among the wheatfields.

By way of introducing myself to the old gentleman I cracked a few jokes on the sleepiness of the town and the dinginess of the hotel, but a little later realized that my remarks were ill directed, by finding that he was proprietor of the establishment. "Never mind," thought I, "it will be all right if I take dinner here." The old gentleman's face showed an animated interest as he informed me, in response to a question, that dinner would be served at half past 12.

I was now wearied of reading stale news, so went out and took a five minutes' walk to the end of the main street and back. Next I bought a novel and went out upon the prairie and spent a couple of hours reading. Killing time in a Dakota town I found not to be so exciting as the same occupation in Chicago or London. About noon I wandered back to town and got stranded on some California fruit at a store. I filled myself so completely with grapes and peaches that I never once thought of dinner at the hotel. The old landlord must have been grievously disappointed, but I did not see him again.

I talked with the clerk in the store, read some more and cursed the Northern Pacific until nearly 2 o'clock. Then I sauntered over to the station, and after waiting a half hour for the train inquired of the station agent as to what time I could get away.

He replied, "Not until the 4 o'clock through freight comes." The 2 o'clock was a way freight and had been delayed, he explained.

I moralized on the inconveniences of travel in a new section of the country and set about using up another two hours. I found that I had somehow got some spots of wheel grease on my clothes and managed to spend a comparatively pleasant hour scrubbing out the spots with naphtha at the town drug store. Then I read some more.

At 4 o'clock I went over to the station again and finally plucked up courage to ask the rather irritable agent about the train. He deigned to tell me, as if tired of seeing me around, that the train wouldn't be along until 5. Now I had a companion in my misery, for a lady, with two little girls, was waiting for the next train to Fargo.

Our common annoyances served to introduce us, and we talked of the harvesting and so on, I deriving some information, as she was a resident of the region. At 5 o'clock the train was not in sight, and the station man positively refused to know anything or to have any opinion as to the prospect of our getting away. I offered the lady my book and sat and reflected on the happiness of life in that section, getting up occasionally to look out upon the flat prairie to see if the train had yet risen above the horizon. There was nothing but the two rails stretching away till they converged into one, and then that was lost to the eye.

Once in awhile the lady and the little girls got up to look. Finally she announced that she could see smoke in the distance. My eyes were not so good, but we watched eagerly, and after some minutes I acknowledged with great pleasure that she was right. We watched the smoke solidify into a train, which grew larger and larger until at last it rolled along, and at precisely 6 o'clock the engine came to a standstill a few feet beyond the station on a side track. The caboose intended for passengers was, of course, at the rear end of the train and seemingly a quarter of a mile away.

By this time several men and boys had gathered on the scene, apparently wishing to go to Fargo. No one seemed to want to walk away back to the caboose, and every one was very anxious not to get left. At this moment another freight train, hitherto unnoticed, came booming along on the main track. Things were getting muddled. Would the second train stop? Would the first pull up to the station to accommodate those who wished to enter the caboose?

I interrogated the engineer of train No. 1. "Ask the conductor. I don't know," he yelled. Then he relented and said, "The other train is the one you want." Train No. 2 had rolled along by the station and was now coming to a standstill a hundred yards away.

I found the lady with the little girls. Said I, "We must take the other train." Some of the men and boys now started briskly to walk in the direction of the train, which was away beyond on the main line.

"Let me take a satchel," said I chivalrously as I grabbed one of her two enormous traveling bags and started for the train, followed by the lady, the little girls and the remaining men and boys. The train, as I said, was a hundred yards away. We thought of the nine long hours we had waited for that train, and goaded by the fear of a longer stay in Castleton we struck out at a lively pace toward the caboose.

Two-thirds of the distance had been accomplished, and I was striding along with the great piece of luggage banging against my legs at every step, when the train commenced to move away, slowly now.

"Run!" I shouted. The men ahead of us were already on the run.

The lady began to scamper, holding the 5-year-old by one hand, carrying in the other her satchel and followed by the 11-year-old, who brought up the rear.

We gained, but not fast enough, thought I.

"Let me have the child," I cried, and grabbing up the little one under my arm I began the chase anew, with the big satchel still in one hand and making me go hippity hop by its joltings.

Women were not made to run. Yet the lady was doing well. The train was getting some headway. I dashed along with my awkward burdens and in a few moments reached the steps of the moving caboose, swung the child up into the arms of one of the men who had caught the train, threw my other charge, the strange lady's satchel, upon the platform and jumped aboard.

Glory! I was on my way to Fargo at last. But how about the lady? She was now 20 feet behind and only holding her own.

"Harry!" But she was puffing—out of breath—and began to lag behind. The 5-year-old on the caboose was dazed. The 11-year-old back with her mother on the railroad ties took in the situation and set up a howl to see me, the strange man, on board an eastern bound train with her little sister and her mother's luggage.

The train was moving even faster. There was but one thing to do. I leaped to the ground, caught the little girl as she was almost thrown to me by a kindly passenger, set her on the ground, then ran for the train, clutched the huge satchel, planted that on the ties and finally by good sprinting caught up with the caboose and swung myself aboard.

I had done all I could for the poor lady. It was sad to see her left behind after waiting all day for the train. She must now take her chances of getting into Fargo tonight by means of the way freight now standing at Castleton. Thus I reflected as I stood on the rear end of the caboose and looked at the forlorn trio standing on the track in the midst of their luggage, gazing after the receding train.

Then came jolt, jolt, jolt! It was down brakes! I clung to the guard rail to prevent myself from being thrown off. Quickly the train came to a full stop and didn't move for five minutes, during which time the lady and the little girls got aboard, together with a little fat man and two boys, who had also been distanced in the race. Then the train steamed back to the station and waited a half hour.

I wiped the perspiration from my flushed face, inwardly damned the railroad and rode the 20 miles on the outside platform of the caboose. We got to Fargo at a quarter past 7.—Charles Taylor Tatman in Budget.

"The Lamb Gourd."

The Duke of Holstein, in his "Travels in Muscovy and Persia" (1636), gives a full account of a wonderful vegetable growing in the neighborhood of the city of Samara, Russia, and known as the "lamb or sheep gourd." The duke says: "It most resembles a lamb in all its members and on that account is called 'the lamb gourd.' It changes place in growing as far as the vine or stalk will reach, and wherever it turns the grass withers. When it ripens, the stalk withers, and the outward rind is covered with a kind of hair, which the Muscovites use instead of fur. They showed us some of these skins, which were covered with soft wool, not unlike that of a lamb newly weaned."

Scaliger also speaks of the "lamb gourd" in his works. In one chapter he says that the queer vegetable continues to grow as long as grass is plentiful, but that when the grass falls the "pore creetyr dyes from lack of nourishment." He also says that the wolf is the only animal that will feed upon it.—St. Louis Republic.

The Old Novel and the New.

"What is the difference between the old novel and the new?" I am asked. Here is a sentence which will just answer the question: In the old fiction they marry in the last chapter and live happily ever afterward; in the new they marry in the first chapter and live unhappily ever afterward.—London Million.

Prepared for Hard Work.

He—Then if you are willing, we will be married at once. But we will not live in the close, crowded city; I will purchase a little farm, and we will live on it and be as happy as turtle doves.

She—And I shall be a farmer's wife?

He—Yes, darling.

She—How delightful! And what do you think, John? You won't have to buy a milking stool for me, for I've got one already.

He, in surprise—You have?

She, all animation—Oh, yes, the prettiest you ever saw—decorated with handsome plush and cherry-colored ribbons.—Christian Observer.

Another Problem Solved.

Citizen, who likes home-made bread—My dear, I hear that the bakers' trust has rusted through a law forbidding women to make their own bread.

Wife, indignantly—They have, have they? I'll show 'em. Here, Maria, run out and get me some yeast.

HOPE FOR THE HAIRLESS.

Professor Birkholz, of Chicago. Gives Hope to Those Afflicted with Baldness—A "No Cure, No Pay" Treatment.

Professor G. Birkholz, of Chicago, the eminent German specialist, who for years has devoted his time and talent to the study of the hair follicles, and who has evolved the most successful treatment for baldness the world has ever known.

He will carefully examine each case and candidly inform you whether his hair can be cured and the hair be restored. These examinations are made without charge. In all cases where there are any hair follicles removed by age or disease the professor will undertake a cure, and if he does not effect a restoration of the hair he will ask no pay.

The remedy is an importation, and the treatment given by the professor is his own, and cures where all others fail. If your case has been pronounced incurable do not take it as a final answer until you have seen Professor Birkholz and received his opinion.

Many persons have small bald spots through the hair. These increase in area and in time produce baldness. In such cases the hair follicles need nourishment. Prompt treatment will bring them into activity and restore the hair. The success that has attended Professor Birkholz everywhere enables him to give a positive opinion in each case presented to him. Those who are bald or are threatened with baldness should not delay treatment, but call upon the professor at once. 1011 Masonic Temple Chicago.

Hand this notice to any first-class drug and he will get the remedy for you at once, if he has not got it in stock.

G.A.R. NOTICE

We take this opportunity of informing our subscribers that the new Commissioner of Pensions has been appointed. He is an old soldier, and we believe that soldiers and their heirs will receive justice at his hands. We do not anticipate that there will be any radical changes in the administration of pension affairs under the new regime.

We would advise, however, that U. S. soldiers, sailors, and their heirs, take steps to make application at once, if they have not already done so, in order to secure the benefit of the early filing of their claims in case there should be any future pension legislation. Such legislation is seldom retroactive. Therefore it is of great importance that applications be filed in the department at the earliest possible date.

If U. S. soldiers, or their widows, children, or parents desire information in regard to pension matters, they should write to the Press Claims Company at Washington, D. C., and they will prepare and send the necessary application, if they find them entitled under the numerous laws enacted for their benefit. Address:

Crazy on the Subject of Dress.

A paper published in London gives a strange account of the duchess of Somerset, whose personal property it says was sold at auction a few days ago. It seems the poor lady had a mania for clothes. She had at the time of her death not only 4,000 pairs of gloves, but 600 pairs of silk stockings, 500 lace handkerchiefs, and all sorts of dresses, many of them of the fashion of forty years ago. She had been confined to her own house for nearly thirty years, yet she regularly ordered her elegant court dresses with each change of season, precisely as she would have done had she been in society, as she used to be. Moreover, she used often to dress herself in her elegant finery and parade up and down her room as though she were at a reception.

MISS LOTTIE GILSON.

A Popular and Clever Character Singer Famous as a Balladist.

Lottie Gilson, the popular and clever character singer, made her professional debut at the National theater, in New York, in October, 1884, under the management of Michael Hermann. She rendered herself popular by singing the ballads, "The Fisherman and His Child," "The Old Turnkey" and "The Sexton." During that season she appeared at the leading variety theaters in the eastern cities, and she installed herself an immediate favorite. She was engaged by Gus Hill for his World of Novelties, for the season of 1885-86. Irwin Brothers secured her for the following season, 1886-87. In the fall of 1887 she joined Rich & Harris' Howard Athenaeum Co., and remained with them throughout the season. Miss Gilson, who is styled "The Little Magnet" on the bills, possesses

BANE OF THE WESTERN FARMER

The Russian Thistle Has Done $25,000,000 Worth of Damage.

The harm that has come to this country through "undesirable immigrants" of the lower orders of animal and vegetable existences has been costly indeed. Two great enemies are now preying upon the country as pests. The one is the gypsy moth and the other the Russian thistle. In the war of extermination against the former, $245,000 has been expended already. The vegetable terror of the West, the Russian thistle, was brought to this country sixteen years ago. Some immigrants happened to bring a bagful of black flaxseed to Dakota, and among the flaxseeds were scattered a few other little black seeds, not so large as mustard-seeds. These were the seeds of the fatal black thistle. No sooner had these little black parasites touched the soil than they started on the march of destruction, and they have already invaded Minnesota, Wisconsin, Kansas, Nebraska and Wyoming, rendering 40,000 square miles of agricultural land unproductive. The thick, thorny bush of the Russian thistle, having a weak hold on the soil, is taken up bodily by the prairie winds and scatters its seeds for miles around. Now that $25,000,000 of damage has already been done, the government is asked for an appropriation of $1,000,000 as a starter in a chase after the destructive thistle. Traces of its existence are now found over 70,000 square miles of country and how many millions it will cost to exterminate it is a matter of speculation. Little did the poor Russian immigrant imagine the millions of dollars of destruction that his little bag of seeds was destined to cost the country. It is, indeed, a striking theme for sermons on the power of little things to work vast results for good or evil in the world.

ANTS AT PLAY.

Sports and Pastimes Among the Industrious Little Insects.

"I approached one day to the formicary of some wood ants, exposed to the sun and sheltered from the north," says Pierre Huber, the naturalist. "The ants were heaped upon one another in great numbers, appearing to enjoy the temperature of the surface of the nest. None of them were at work and the immense multitude of insects presented the appearance of a liquid in a state of ebullition, upon which the eye could scarcely be fixed without great difficulty, but when I examined the conduct of each ant I saw that they were approaching each other, each moving his antennae with astonishing rapidity, each patting the cheek of one of his fellows."

"After these preliminaries, which very much resembled caressing, they were observed to raise themselves up-right on their hind legs by pairs, struggle together, seize each other by mandible, foot or antennae, and then immediately relax their hold, only to renew the attack in a moment. They would fasten to each other's shoulders, embrace and wrestle, overthrow each other, and raise themselves by turns, taking revenge without producing any serious mischief."

"They did not spurt out their venom as they do in real combats, or retain their hold upon opponents with such obstinacy. I have seen some so eager in these exercises that they would pursue and vanquish several in succession, only struggling with each a few seconds. * * * In one place two ants appeared to be gambling about a stalk of straw, turning alternately to avoid or seize each other, which forcibly brought to my recollection the sport and pastime of young dogs, when they are observed to rise on their hind legs, attempting to bite, overthrow or seize each other without once closing their teeth."

That oily and rough skin cured and the face and hands beautified by Johnson's Oriental soap; medicated and highly perfumed. Sold at Smith's Pharmacy.

THE Rev. Mr. White, of Beloit, declined the call to Belin.

A LOT OF POINTERS
ABOUT MAKING UP.

IMPORTANT PART OF THE ACTOR'S PLAYING.

The Lining Pencil May Be Used to Transform Youth Into Old Age Coloring the Eyes—Changing the Beard and Mustache.

HEART OF MAKING UP is one which every actor cultivates most assiduously. He can convey as much by his countenance as he can by the words which so glibly roll off his tongue. An extra wrinkle about the eye will whisper of anything between a diabolical murder and a hungry interior; a highly-colored nose may either betray a tendency to too-frequent falling down in adoration of Bacchus, or the excessive color may act as a silent reminder of a "cold in the head" and the advisability of an immediate application of a small bottle of glycerine.

All well and good. But some of our actors are beginning to play pranks with their faces, and are forgetting that they possess a canvas which needs as delicate touching with the colors as that on the easel of a Royal Academician. There is a positive danger of "the Villain at the Vic" making a successful reappearance again—that estimable individual whose corkscrew curls were as black as the deeds; whose ever glance told her that "bur-lud, bur-lud, nothing but bur-lud and let it be cer-rimmon at that, my lord!" would satisfy. But it is not intended that these words should either by word from pen or picture from pencil libel the face of any actor breathing. It is only desirable that the disciples of Thespis should be warned against overdoing their stage faces. There is really no need for it. They are not at Sadler's Wells to-day.

Though it is to be hoped that no modern actor will ever have to stoop so low as the floor for his rouge, yet there seems to be rising up in our midst a generation of actors who altogether misunderstand the use of brush and pencil. Glance at this worthy fellow, for instance. Doubtless he is endowed with the best of intentions, but he has made his face resemble a sweep's and the five-barred gate he has put on his forehead would not disgrace the entrance to a highly respectable turnip field.

Now, he will enter like that and would probably feel hurt if somebody were to cry out from the gallery that it would be as well if some actors were to let the audience see their faces for a change occasionally. The cultivation of wrinkles—on the stage, of course—is a positive art.

"Must put plenty of lines on the face," says the actor; "I'm playing an old man to-night." But there is no necessity to wrinkle the face like badly-straitened-out forked lightning; there is no need to lay down new lines on your countenance such as a debilitated luggage train would scorn. The effect, from the front, of the lines laid down about the vicinity of the eyes appears like a huge pair of goggles without the connecting link across the bridge of the nose.

Your old stage hand, when called upon to play a countryman, will tell you that there is nothing to equal a level coloring all over the face, with a little rouge on the cheeks, and the immediate neighborhood of the eyes touched up to balance the effect. Our country friend is almost as wicked in his makeup as the individual who still pins his faith to the hare's foot—now almost obsolete—and grins at himself in the glass, and considers an admirable effect is obtained by "rouging" a somewhat prominent nasal organ. Your Dutchman is a funny fellow. Makeup: flaxen wig and fat cheeks. There are several ways of obtaining this necessary rotundity of the cheeks. Padded pieces may be joined on to the other parts of the face with spirit gum and colored to match.

BELIEVES IN A GOOD EYE.

Nothing like a good eye—an eagle eye. Hence the camel's hair brush is called into requisition, and our theatrical friend plays at latitude and longitude all over his face. The wrinkle off the stage is a distinctive art, and to become "on familiar terms with it is very necessary. The camel's hair brush has been superseded by lining pencils, which can be obtained in any color. They possess the great advantage—being made of grease—of giving a wrinkle that will not wash off by perspiration. The "wash-off" is after the play is over, when the wise resort to vaseline or cold cream, with a wash in warm water afterward.

But, for really beautiful eyes, some ladies may be recommended. The fair performer has to play the juvenile part in a light comedy, has to be loved by the nice-looking young man who crowns himself with golden locks.

"COLORING IT."

Hence she goes in for a contrast—a strong contrast.

"Love" she murmurs to herself—"love has eyes," and she immediately proceeds to "Two lovely black!"

A line under the eye will give it prominence. Too much prominence is not a desirable thing, especially about one's features. But the "juvenile" lady does not stop at black eyeing. The lips have to be made to look kissable, so they are reddened to a delicately puckered-up appearance. The grand finale is a fair wig, in total rebellion to the two lovely black!

The ways of producing whiskers, beards or mustaches are of three kinds. They can be made by sewing hair on thin silk gauze, which fits the part of the face it is intended to decorate, and stuck on with spirit gum, or they can be made out of crepe hair—a plaited, imitation hair—which in deft fingers may be made into shape. These, too, are held on to the face with spirit gum. The last method is to paint the hair on. The latter course is not recommended.
